

ABSTRACT

The Sur-Link system will link a person to any portable apparatus they may randomly misplace or enable one to monitor such things as a pocket book, cell phone or any other object that they could leave behind. This unit may be used for keys or attached to a child that you desire to keep within a safe distance and many other uses by means of an electronic sending unit that you attached to a child or object you want to protect from loss or separation. The receiving unit is attached to the person that is similar to a beeper or warning device which will sound an alarm when a distance of a few feet separates the receiver unit from the sending device attached to the unit you seek to monitor.
